Two Local Youths Hurt

Robert Hays, 'Bucky' Russler Injured In Auto Crash Near Carmi; 2 Dead

Two Harrisburg young men were injured, one hospitalized, when a car in which they were riding figured in a crash yesterday that killed a Carmi high school athlete and a Mt. Carmel conservation officer.

Local youths hurt were Robert Hays, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hays, and Fred (Bucky) Russler, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Russler.

Killed instantly was John A. Fletcher, Wabash county conservation officer for the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Dying at 7:12 a. m. today was Gary Danner, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Danner of Carmi, a member of the Carmi high school's top tumbling team. His father is employed by the Singer Sewing Machine Co. at Carmi.

Two Dead, Six Hurt

The two died and six were injured in a two-car crash at 5:30 p. m. Sunday on U. S. 460 two miles northeast of Carmi.

Hays is in the Carmi hospital suffering a broken pelvis. Russler was examined at the hospital and released. However, this morning he was complaining of chest and groin pains and was to be examined further in Harrisburg.

The two local youths were in a car driven by Jackie Miller, 19, Carmi. Miller, Billy Smith, 19, and Robert Myers, 17, all of Carmi and in the same car along with young Danner, were injured.

Badly injured was Fletcher's companion, Howard Bunting, 38, of Albion, conservation officer for Edwards county. He is in Carmi hospital with chest, head and possible internal injuries.

Car Hit Broadside

State police said that the accident resulted when the car driven by young Miller swerved across the road and was hit broadside by the car driven by Fletcher.

Miller told the officers another car stopped suddenly in front of him and as he applied the brakes, they grabbed and sent his car careening across the road.

The accident happened at McHenry Slough, on the busy Carmi-Crossville stretch of U. S. 460 and Illinois Route 1. It blocked traffic for a period until wreckage from the highway was removed.

It was learned here that Russler and Hays had been to Fairfield in Russler's auto to take Dean Mallady, in the service, to catch a train back to camp. They were returning by way of Grayville when their auto stalled on them in Grayville. When they couldn't get it to going they pushed it onto a side street and started to hitch-hike to Harrisburg.

The two were picked up by Miller, who knew them; so the six were proceeding toward Carmi when the collision occurred.

Albion Funeral Home Burns

ALBION, Ill. — Fire which destroyed the Ingram Funeral Home here Sunday caused damage unofficially estimated at around $30,000.

The building was a total loss as was much of the furnishings and equipment in the structure.

Fred Ingram, owner, discovered the blaze at 8:45 a. m. when he went into the basement to fire the furnace. The flames already had burned their way up to the third floor through partitions.

Albion's two fire truck and one from West Salem fought the blaze until noon. Cause of the fire is undetermined.

Insurance covers most of the loss. The funeral home will be rebuilt, Ingram said.

Fred Ingram formerly was associated with the late Jesse Rude who operated what is now the Harrisburg funeral home in this city. He is a brother-in-law of Dr. L. I. Webb of this city.

71 Persons Burn to Death in Blast, Fire In Home for Aged

Regarded as Model Home

Structure Formerly Part of College; Charged According to Ability to Pay

WARRENTON, Mo., AP — The old peoples' home that burned here Sunday with a heavy loss of life was regarded by the residents of this area as a model nursing home.

And W. S. Michael O'Sullivan, 45, operator of the home, was regarded as one of this small community's outstanding citizens.

O'Sullivan, married and the father of three children, also operates nursing homes in St. Louis, only 45 miles away, Normandy, and Elsberry, Mo.

However, this was his main property and he had spent considerable time and money in recent years to remodel and renovate the home.

O'Sullivan obtained the three-story brick and masonry structure and two nearby buildings from Central Wesleyan College, which discontinued in 1941. He opened the building as a nursing home in 1943.

The building was constructed in 1895 to replace one also destroyed by fire two years previously. The original structure was a Central Wesleyan College women's dormitory.

The nursing home housed 194 patients and O'Sullivan charged the patients according to their ability to pay. He took in aged and destitute persons free and charged other patients up to $200 per month.

He recently finished remodeling the home and last Thursday the building was approved by a state nursing home inspector. The inspector found no violations of fire safety regulations.

O'Sullivan, shocked and grieved by the blaze, could not explain its cause. He thought it might have been started by a male guest smoking in the men's room.

Remove Remains Charred Bodies From Basement

225 Persons in Building; Have Little Time to Flee

WARRENTON, Mo., AP — Firemen searched through the still hot debris of a home for the aged today for more bodies of the 71 persons burned to death when fire and explosion mushroomed through the old three-story building.

The charred remains of 19 bodies were taken out of the basement of the building into which all those trapped inside tumbled when a muffled explosion caused floors and walls to fall. Searchers hoped to find others as the debris cooled.

Dr. F. H. Knigge, Warren county coroner in charge of the search, said there was no hope that any of the 71 persons listed as missing were still alive.

Knigge said few of the bodies would be identified because most of them were reduced to little more than ashes.

The fire broke out in the 62-year old building during visiting hours. Authorities said more than 225 persons, including patients and visitors, were in the building at the time.

Fire Spread Quickly

Those inside had only a few minutes to escape, between the time the fire was noticed and the floors plunged into the basement.

One witness, Warren Stewart, a filling station operator who was across the street at the time, said the blast of flame that swept thru the building appeared to have been caused by some kind of gas.

Knigge said it had been determined that no visitors had been lost in the holocaust. He said it appeared the final death toll would be confined to the 71 still missing.

Cause of the fire was not determined. Gov. James T. Blair Jr. ordered a three phase inquiry into the blaze, one of the worst disasters of its kind in the nation's history. Blair said investigations would be made by the Highway Patrol, the State Division of Health and Welfare and a Fire Underwriters Bureau.

Marion Firemen Extinguish Blaze In Uptown Shop

The Marion fire department last night nipped what may have been an uptown conflagration when they extinguished a fire that was burning The Wallace Shop on West Main less than a half block from the square.

Firemen got the call around 7 p. m. and by 7:30 the fire was under control. The Herrin fire department stood by at the Marion station while the Marion department fought the blaze.

Fire Chief Herman May said the fire started at the rear and in the upper part of the one-story building. There was considerable damage to the rear, where the fire broke through. The stock of the children's apparel store was damaged by smoke and water.

The business was operated by Argyle Wallace and the building was owned by Mrs. Virginia Dunston.

Flood Control Project Gray Introduces Legislation For Saline River Improvements

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Kenneth J. Gray (D), 25th District of Illinois, member of the Committee on Public Works, today asked the House to approve two bills that would authorize extensive flood control and navigation projects on the Saline river and tributaries in southern Illinois.

One bill calls for clearing and enlarging the channel between Mile 17.2 and Mile 27.1, the lower 31.0 miles of North Fork Channel, the lower 12.2 miles of the Middle Fork Channel, and for clearing and cleaning the lower 14.2 miles of the South Fork Channel, of the Saline river for flood control purposes.

Gray said the cost of the flood control project would be $5,900,000. He said the bill introduced today is identical to the measure passed in the last session of Congress which was subsequently vetoed by the President. He pointed out that the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers had recommended that local interests pay more than $900,000 of the cost as a fair share of their contribution for land enhancement values. He also said he offered an amendment last year which was adopted, cutting the local contribution by 75%, leaving only $222,000 to be paid by local interests. Gray said this was one of the reasons the President objected to the project. The Congressman gave local economic conditions as his argument for the reduction in local contribution. He said he was hopeful the President would sign the bill if he is successful in getting it through the House and Senate in its present form.

The second bill is in the form of a resolution, calling for an Army

Herrin Police Chief Resigns

HERRIN, Ill. (AP) — The police chief at Herrin resigned Saturday and at the same time issued a verbal blast on law enforcement.

Police Chief Roy Cole announced his resignation effective Sunday. Said Cole: "I have been deprived of the right to enforce the law even to a traffic ticket."

Mayor Dave H. Miller replied that Cole's resignation was "purely a political move" in his opinion.

Miller appointed Cole as police chief after the resignation of former chief Fred Henderson.

Henderson already has announced his intention to run against Miller this April for mayor. Henderson formerly served as mayor.

Mayor Miller announced he will appoint John Dearing, assistant police chief the last four years, as temporary police chief.

Cole was appointed to the police force in April, 1955, and was named chief in May, 1956.

Memorial Home, was formerly the Central Wesleyan College which closed in 1941. It occupied three of the old college buildings. The one that was swept by fire was in the center of the old campus. The others, occupied by other patients and administrative offices, were not damaged.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said the Katie Jane's license renewal had been held up by the state as the result of a recent inquiry because the electrical wiring had not been inspected by a competent electrician.

The newspaper said Dr. James R. Mason, director of the State Division of Health, had informed Blair there was some reason to believe the wiring might have been overloaded.

Sift Through Debris

The disaster brought demands for stricter laws governing the operation of nursing homes in the state. Blair said he may have a special message on the subject for the General Assembly by Tuesday.

Heavy wrecking equipment was brought in today to complete the demolition of the walls, all that was left standing of the building, and provide safety for the searchers sifting through the debris.

The nursing home was operated by W. S. O'Sullivan, whose family also operates similar institutions at Elsberry, Mo., and Hillsboro, Mo. The Hillsboro home, managed by O'Sullivan's sister, Mrs. James Lewis, was destroyed by fire in 1952 with the loss of 18 lives.

Knigge praised the men who entered the dangerous ruins this morning to remove what bodies they could. He said they would easily have been killed themselves by falling walls.

In Jefferson City, a team of state health and welfare officials was ordered to make an inspection of the ruins.

William Thad Fife, fire safety inspector who spent all night at the scene, said he could reach no conclusion as to cause of the fire.

Mrs. Hallie Young, a practical nurse, went off duty at 2:30 p. m. just before the fire was discovered. She was on her way home when she heard the fire sirens and saw the smoke.

"I turned right around and came back," she said. "But there was little I could do. I had 23 patients and I lost all but 5 of them."

The Rev. Walter Schwane, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, was holding Sunday services for 22 residents of the home and 12 of his own parishioners in the first-floor chapel of the home when a cry of "fire" interrupted a hymn.

Schwane said he ran to a corridor and saw flames all around the door to a room housing four women. While his parishioners helped the inmates at the service to safety, Schwane ran into the flaming room, kicked out the windows and lifted the four women to the arms of firemen outside.

Even With Shelters

40 to 50 Per Cent Would Lose Lives in A-Attack: Peterson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson said today that 40 to 50 per cent of the U. S. population would be killed in an enemy atomic attack even if the best available system of shelters were in place.

Peterson testified, however, that he nevertheless has recommended to the White House that work be started on shelters that would be available not only to persons in target areas but to Americans generally.

Peterson, in a heated defense of past civil defense policy based mainly on evacuation of big cities, warned against an assumption by some "sneering, snarling, snide" editorial writers that shelters are the ultimate answer to civil defense.

"In the final analysis there is no such thing as a nation being prepared for a thermo-nuclear war," Peterson told a House Government Operations subcommittee on civil defense.

Peterson said evacuation plays an important role in civil defense now and will continue to do so until the advent of the intercontinental ballistic missile, which would reduce warning time to near-zero.

Peterson said dispersal of industry is just as important as shelter construction.

He said new plants and additions to existing plants should be built underground, in mountains and rocks.

Although asserting that shelters must be built, Peterson cautioned against expecting too much from them.

He warned that an enemy attack would involve "hundreds" of atomic and hydrogen bombs and casualties in the millions.

"If we built the best shelters that can be built we would still lose somewhere in the neighborhood of 40 to 45 per cent of our people in terms of the kind of weapons available in the near future and in the long range we may lose more than half of them," Peterson said.

The state's attorney's office today announced that four of the six cases that had been scheduled for today in a jury trial of county court had been disposed of and that two were pending.

James Luster was fined $100 and costs and his driver's license revoked upon his plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He made his plea before County Judge Robert Porter of Vienna, called because County Judge Trafton Dennis had had an interest in the case before he was elected judge.

Porter also was presiding in a pending case in which W. M. Winters is charged with bastardy because Dennis had represented one of the parties prior to the election.

Lorenz E. Gholson was fined $100 and costs by Dennis and his driver's license revoked on a charge of driving while intoxicated. This same action recently was taken against him in Hamilton county.

Dismissed was a case against Julius Hatfield, charged with writing a fraudulent check.

Thornton Hollister, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a child, is now in a mental institution after having been adjudged insane.

One case set for March 11 was disposed of today when David Harris of Eldorado pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was assessed a fine of $50 and costs.

Pending is a case against Lowell D. Taylor, charged with violation of the truck weight law.

Virden Boy, 10, Strangles Himself in Cowboy-Indian Game

VIRIDEN, Ill. (AP) — Police investigated today the death of a 10-year-old boy who apparently strangled himself while playing "cowboys and Indians."

The body of Gary Wrightman was found by a neighbor who entered the Wrightman home Sunday morning. The boy was on his knees and a beam overhead.

Macoupin County Coroner John Ferklitch said the boy may have panicked and the rope's knot tightened and strangled him.

His parents were asleep at the time.

Pope County Community Development Program Will Be Launched Tuesday

GOLCONDA, Ill.—Dr. William H. Freeberg, chairman of the Southern Illinois University department of recreation and outdoor education, will discuss community and area recreational potentials here Tuesday evening, Feb. 19, to launch the Pope County Community Development program's county-wide meetings. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. in the Golconda grade school building.

Millard Farmer and Ralph Aly, co-chairman of the Pope County Community Development program, say the meeting will be devoted to appraising the recreational potential of Pope County and to seek Freeberg's assistance in learning what a county-wide recreational program should include.

Tuesday night's meeting will be sponsored by the Pope County Community Development Program Recreation committee in cooperation with the Golconda-Pope County Parent-Teacher association.

"Since Dr. Freeberg has spent six months studying major recreation and tourist points in the nation, we are looking forward to hearing his ideas which may be applied to our own attractive and interesting county," Farmer said.

Pope county has been busy with the preliminary aspects of a community development program for the past four months. This has included the election of officers and executive committee members; the appointment of community development committee chairmen, discussion leaders and recorders; and the formation of a council of organizations which includes the presidents of all civic, social, fraternal and religious groups in the county.

During this time, training sessions for executive committee members, committee chairmen, and discussion leaders were conducted by a team of consultants from the Southern Illinois University Department of Community Development.

A special orientation session for school teachers and school board representatives from the county was held recently.

At the various preliminary meetings, the organizational structure of the county-wide program was decided, the purpose of community development was discussed, leaders for the program were briefed on their special duties, and the goals for the program in Pope County were decided.

The Pope county program is the first completely county-wide organized program being advised by the SIU Community Development Department. The SIU consultant for the program is Frank H. Sehner who is in his second year on the SIU community development staff.

Truman Rejects Trip to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and the State Department have announced with regret former President Truman's decision not to visit Greece and Turkey next month.

The two countries had invited Mr. Truman to attend ceremonies commemorating the 10th anniversary of the Truman Doctrine, a major turning point in modern American diplomacy which set a precedent for Mr. Eisenhower's own Middle East doctrine. The Truman plan provided U. S. aid to combat Communism in Greece and Turkey in the difficult years following World War II.

The State Department Sunday announced Mr. Truman's decision not to make the trip. It said "this is a source of regret to both the President and the secretary of state, as it must be to the governments of Greece and Turkey."

The former president, who was vacationing in Florida when he received the invitation, expressed interest in it. But he said he was unable to attend on such short notice because of previous commitments. Greece and Turkey had suggested March 10 as the date for the ceremony.

Michigan State, Illinois Play Tonight; Spartans Threaten Three-Way Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State's menacing Spartans threatened to throw the Big Ten basketball jackpot into a three-way tie for first place tonight.

The Spartans, looking for their seventh straight conference success, take on Illinois on the latter's floor. At the same time, Indiana risks its league-leading record of 7-2 against Iowa on the Hoosier court.

A three-team grab of first place would materialize with a Spartan victory and a Hoosier loss.

Ohio State, a half game out of the lead with a 7-3 mark, is idle on tonight's card, and thus would join Indiana and Michigan State at the top.

Four Teams Lose Hope

In other games not directly affecting the leadership, Michigan is at Purdue and Wisconsin at Minnesota.

At this late stage of the campaign all but four conference entries were still in the running for the championship. Only Wisconsin (1-7), Northwestern (2-9), Iowa (3-5) and Purdue (5-5) have abandoned all hope.

Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota each had four defeats, marring their records. But a late season surge and a slump by the present leaders could put them into the picture.

The Spartans made it six in a row Saturday night with a 77-67 win over Iowa in a game which saw the conference's defensive specialists pull a switch and go on a scoring spree. John Green, Michigan State defensive ace, turned up with scoring honors for the game with 23 points.

Hoosiers Nip Rally
Indiana was forced to smother a Northwestern rally in the last eight minutes to get an 87-74 triumph which preserved its league lead. Wildcat center Joe Ruklick, the league's fourth-ranking scorer, took scoring honors with 27 points, but the Hoosiers had three players who bagged at least 22.

Michigan passed the century scoring mark for the first time in the school's history in overwhelming Illinois, 102-89. Ron Kramer, Wolverine scoring ace, got 25 points, high for the game, and the total of 191 points for both teams

Hebert Wins Texas Golf Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Swarthy Jay Hebert, the elder of a pair of golfing brothers from the Louisiana Evangeline country, headed for this week's Houston Open today $20,800 richer after calling the winning shots in the $20,000 Texas Open final round.

The 34-year-old Hebert told brother Lionel prior to the start of Sunday's final 18 holes that he was going out to shoot a four-under-par 67 and that "if anybody beats that, they deserve to win it."

Hebert did just that — and nobody beat his winning 72-hole score of 271, although Ed Furgol, the man with the withered arm from St. Andrews, Ill., came within inches of tying him when a 15-foot birdie putt slid by the cup on the final hole.

That gave Furgol a 272 and $1,900 for second place as he finished two strokes ahead of Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill., and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., whose 274s earned them $1,300 each.

After that came Julius Boros and Jimmy Demaret, who blew a two-stroke lead he held going into the final round when he took 37 putts for a 74. Their 276s were worth $1,050 each and put them one stroke in front of Cary Middlecoff, who earned $900 for seventh place.

Archie Moore To Defend Title Against Spieser

NEW YORK (AP) — Venerable Archie Moore, bowing to pressure, probably will defend his light heavyweight crown against Chuck Spieser of Detroit at the Detroit Olympia Stadium, April 5.

Charley Johnson, the champion's manager, announced Sunday night that 40-year-old Archie is ready to sign for a Spieser fight "before the March 18 deadline if the money is right."

That March 18 deadline was given Archie by the National Boxing Assn. in December because he hadn't defended his 175-pound title since last June 5, when he belted out Yolande Pompey at London.

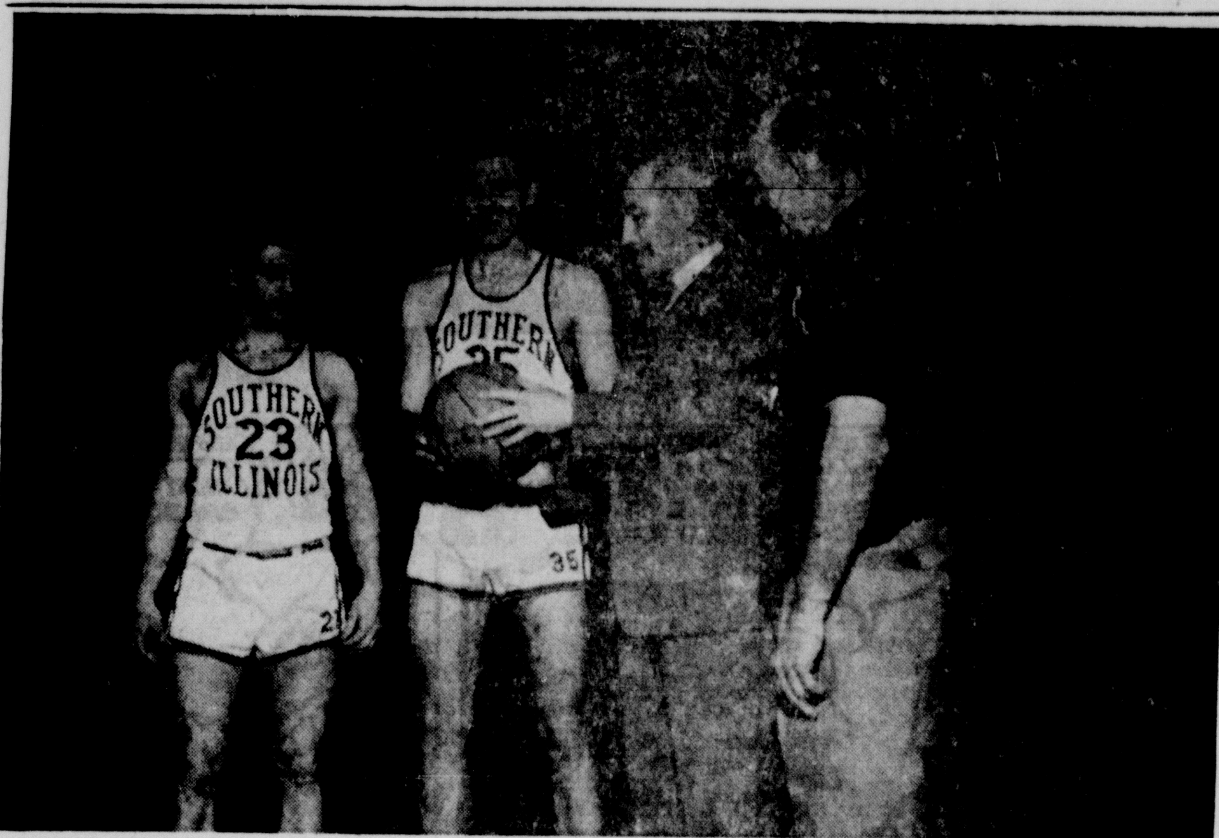

Johnson's announcement may have drained any potential "poison" from a scheduled telephone conference about the "Moore situation" between Julius Helfand in New York and Floyd Stevens at Grand Rapids, Mich. Helfand is chairman of the N. Y. state Athletic Commission. Stevens is president of the National Boxing Assn. and chairman of the Michigan Commission.

SIU to Help House Hambletonian Visitors in August

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois University has agreed to help house some of the thousands of visitors who are expected at the 32nd Hambletonian Stake to be raced next Aug. 27 at the Du Quoin State Fair.

E. J. Hayes, president of the Fair Assn., said SIU President D. W. Morris has offered three new residence halls on the campus for housing the visitors.

Morris also said that the university cafeteria can be operated for the guests' convenience. School will not be in session at the time.

Hayes said the hotel-type accommodations for approximately 1,600 persons will go a long way toward solving the No. 1 problem in the area's first year as host to the world's richest harness race.

The Fair Assn. is cataloging all hotel and motel rooms in a 50-mile radius of Du Quoin and private rooms in the city.

Arrangements are being made to handle some 50,000 persons at the Hambletonian.

Third Victory in Row For Locals; Final Two Games Here This Week

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs copped their third victory in a row Saturday night by beating Eldorado, 60 to 56, on the Eldorado floor, and this week face their final two games of the regular season.

The finals will both be played in Davenport gym, Johnston City coming here Friday night and Mt. Vernon playing here the next night to wind up the schedule for the locals before the tourneys begin the week of March 4.

The Bull Dogs, after defeating McLeansboro here Feb. 9, Benton there last Friday night and Eldorado Saturday night for three in a row, now own a season mark of seven wins and 14 losses.

The Saturday night win at Eldorado, although a close and exciting game, was pretty ragged.

Hassett Puled Out
To begin with, Harrisburg started without regular Charles Cummings, who is ill, and when Ray Hassett got three fouls on him in a hurry, he was pulled out of the game. Some time later Jim Cummings got his fourth foul and was taken out.

Then Eldorado's Richard Overton was home ill, and the team's best scorer, Don Kingery fouled out of the game on the last play of the first half. This, along with the fact that several players on both teams were playing with four fouls on them tended to prevent the game from being a top-notch affair.

Bennie Fulkerson, Harrisburg, guard, did a fine job of directing the team against Eldorado's tight zone defense. Bennie was shooting over the zone and Wayne Stone and Hassett were getting in for some fairly close shots.

After the first quarter, which ended 11-11, Harrisburg led nearly all of the game. Shortly after midway in the third quarter the Bull Dogs enjoyed a 10-point lead but let it get away from them, the lead dropping to 55-51, a four point margin, in the later stages of the game.

Wayne Stone High Scorer
At halftime Harrisburg led 25-21 and at the end of the third quarter it was 42-38. In fact, the scoring was even in every quarter except the second, when the locals picked up the 4-point difference.

It was the second victory of the season over Eldorado for the Bull Dogs.

Stone of Harrisburg was high scorer of the game, with 21 points. Fulkerson had 17 and Hassett 12. For Eldorado Leonard Willis and Web Mosby were the boys who caused Harrisburg the most trouble. Willis had 15 points, Mosby 11.

In the preliminary contest the Bull Pups were forced into an overtime before beating the Eldorado B team 62 to 59. The count was tied at 55-55 at the end of a rip-roaring fourth quarter.

For Harrisburg Ron Maynard was high with 21 points. Bob Pavonis had 14, Harold Beal 10, Don Beggs 2. For Eldorado Baugher and Fowler had 15 each, McMahon had 14, Laffoon 7, Anderson 6, Robinson 2 and Miller did not score.

The Bull Pups are having their troubles these days. Phil Kane was forced to quit the squad a week or two ago because of an ulcer.

Dale Wasson and John Stone are out with measles and Gary Stricklin did not suit up Saturday night because he had some teeth pulled Saturday.

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

XXXIII

So was Cass shocked. To think that upon such wisps and shreds she would make a monstrous mistake.

She'd actually pushed those two young-folk, sensing their romantic attraction for each other—all color drained from Cass's face. "I shouldn't have meddled," she said contritely. "I had no right."

"Indeed you didn't," agreed Marcy pleasantly. "For one thing, I was quite capable of getting that man for myself. Jake's a nice, clean-cut American man. A girl wouldn't want a girl couldn't have—better than that!"

Numbly, Cass stared at Marcy. "But, didn't you think that the other one—Lee—"

"Was like Jake? No, I didn't. Cass I thought I loved him. You see, then I didn't know what love was like. Lee was a charmer—in lots of ways he reminds me of Matt Knapp."

"And then?" Cass prompted.

"And then," said Marcy briskly, "I hadn't been in Germany six weeks when his real wife turned up, complete with a baby eight months old. Lee was relieved of his commission, of course, and separated from the Army. That put him into the jurisdiction of the civil courts, and I guess he'll go to several jails at once—when they find him."

"Oh, heavens!" gasped her sister-in-law. "And all we did was try to make you go back to Powers. Why didn't you tell us?"

"I meant to. I meant to tell Alex, at least. Then I came home and found out about Aunt Cordy, and I saw the guy was taking that so hard, I decided not to do anything to shock him further."

"But you needed us..."

"It would have been a shock to him, Cass. It will be, when he knows. It took me a while to realize what had happened. That—as young as I was—I'd married a guy—but wasn't married at all. For a couple of weeks there I was sick. Really sick, and the doctor called it shock. I was numb—I didn't feel anything. That was bad, but it was worse when feeling returned, as it slowly began to. It—that was awful, Cass."

Jake's voice called to them from the front porch. "I'm leaving, Marcy. Be back tomorrow..."

"I'm going with him tomorrow," said Marcy, rising. "And it's going to be right, Cass. He'll talk to you, and Alex, and you'll know how lucky I am, after Lee, that a man like Jake has found me, and wants me. I can't believe it myself, but, oh, I hope it is true!"

Cass went to her, impulsively, warmly.

"A man like Jake," she put her thoughts into words, "is worth a million Lees. It takes that one man in a million to understand a woman's love—so, yes, go with him, Marcy—and stay with him. I know you'll be happy."

ABC Offers Neutral Spot for '21' and 'Challenge' Battle

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — The channel swim...

ABC-TV is offering its network as a "neutral" meeting ground for a battle between Charles Van Doren of NBC-TV's "Twenty One" and Teddy Nadler of CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Challenge." Nadler has invited Van Doren to a battle of brains.

"Playhouse 90" is trying to land Jackie Gleason as star of "Bay at the Moon," a script turned out by Milo Frank, CBS casting director.

Talk has it that the "Price Is Right," NBC-TV daytime, will replace "Hiram Holliday," Orson Welles' first novel, "Mr. Arkadin," will be published by Crowell in May.

ABC-TV and Liberace couldn't see wallet-to-wallet on plans for a planned daytime variety show. Twentieth Century Fox is pitching a long-term contract at Tony Randall, the former "Harvey Weiskit" of the old "Mr. Peepers" show.

"Lysistrata," scooped as a spectacular by NBC-TV this season after Marilyn Monroe pulled out, is in the works again for next semester—John Huston will direct. "You Are There" returns for a new 20-week run after May 5 on CBS-TV.

And this bit of wisdom from Sammy Kaye: "Middle age is when you look forward to staying up for the late, late show. Old age is when you can't."
